DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on September 23, 2003 has been entered Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contain subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Applicant has added to claims 1 and 10 that "the width of the internal thread and external thread are selected to provide a selected clearance at least between the internal load and stab flanks and the external load and stab flanks upon final makeup of the connection". It is the examiner's position that to claim a selected clearance in the thread as noted above at final makeup of the connection is new matter. Nowhere in the specification is such a disclosure made known, in fact on page 7, lines 6-16 states that "the width of the internal thread and external thread are selected to provide a selected clearance at least between the internal load and external stab and load flanks upon engagement of the positive stop torque shoulder. In this arrangement, torque may be applied to the positive stop torque shoulder prior to final make up, without causing irreversible plastic deformation". This disclosure is clearly in opposition to the now claimed invention and no where is it stated that the selected clearance exists at final makeup of the connection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. patent 4,822,081 to Blose. See column 10, lines 13-17 which state that the shoulders may be allowed to contact before the complete thread make-up. As to claims 4-6 see fig. 6 and as to claim 7 see column 8, line 20. The remaining claimed features are evident from the drawings and disclosure. In column 7, lines 47-57 Blose discloses that there is no "interference or contact between the flanks before final make-up". In column 7, lines 60-65, Blose discloses that when "the thread flanks of the present invention are finally touching, this is referred to as the fully made-up condition. Since the flanks of the threads do not touch until final make-up, the flanks do not impose any radial stresses on the pin and box members".

As noted in column 4, lines 57-60, Blose makes it clear that the "converging flanks inherently do not move after the thread load and stab flanks become engaged during make-up" make-up of the joint". This information coupled with the information in column 10, lines 13-17 which state that the shoulders may be allowed to contact before the complete thread make-up makes it clear that Blose is not silent as to a condition where the load and stab flanks are out of contact as applicant contends but rather is specific that the flanks do not come into contact until final make-up nor do they even move after they become engaged. Thus when the shoulders are allowed to contact before complete make-up as stated and the flanks can not be in contact until complete make-up the conditions of the claimed present invention are met given that the added limitations of having a selected clearance at final make up is new matter.
